Innovations

An infrastructure provider that aims to have a leading position is constantly involved in the developments occurring in the market. Gaining, updating and further developing knowledge is a condition for being able to provide an answer to social issues in the future. For Strukton, innovation is not only an ambition; it's in our DNA. But innovation does not come only from the drawing board; the work-floor is where we start. So our employees' input and mentality is crucial. Thanks to their ideas, their vision and enthusiasm, we can always tackle more complex projects.

Vertical Microtunneling

With this new drilling method piles can be driven to great depth and with a large diameter in areas with a very low working height.
